Enrollment is now open for K-12 students looking for a personalized approach to learning

MESICK, Mich.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Enrollment is now open at Highpoint Virtual Academy of Michigan (HVAM), a full-time online public school with Michigan-certified teachers powered by Stride K12. The open enrollment period — available to students anywhere in the state — opened on Feb. 22 and will continue into the fall.

“HVAM offers a high-quality education designed to help students meet their goals in both education and life,” said Mary Moorman, head of school at HVAM. “Our unique learning environment and personalized approach help students build toward a brighter future, and succeed on whatever path they choose.”

Drawing from decades of experience in online education, HVAM offers high-quality instruction that meets state standards and is personalized to each student. The school also offers in-person events and frequent touchpoints to help students stay connected in a digital learning environment.

HVAM offers dual enrollment opportunities, an Early Middle College program and career-focused electives, as well as honors and credit recovery courses. HVAM also offers a transitional kindergarten prep program that introduces fundamental concepts to students, setting them up for long-term success.
