This presentation contains certain forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. We have tried, whenever possible, to identify these forward-looking statements using words such as “anticipates,” “believes,” “estimates,” “continues,” “likely,” “may,” “opportunity,” “potential,” “projects,” “will,” “expects,” “plans,” “intends” and similar expressions to identify forward looking statements, whether in the negative or the affirmative. These statements reflect our current beliefs and are based upon information currently available to us. Accordingly, such forward-looking statements involve known and unknown risks, uncertainties and other factors which could cause our actual results, performance or achievements to differ materially from those expressed in, or implied by, such statements.

These risks, uncertainties, factors and contingencies include, but are not limited to: reduction of per pupil funding amounts at the schools we serve; inability to achieve a sufficient level of new enrollments to sustain our business model; failure to replace students who have graduated from the terminal grade in a school or have left our programs for other reasons with new students of a sufficient number; inability to maintain our current rate of retention of students enrolled in our courses; an increase in the amount of failures to enter into new school contracts or renew existing contracts, in part or in their entirety; the failure of perceived industry trends and projections resulting from the expected effects of COVID-19 on virtual education; failure of the schools we serve or us to comply with federal, state and local regulations, resulting in a loss of funding, an obligation to repay funds previously received or contractual remedies; governmental investigations that could result in fines, penalties, settlements, or injunctive relief; declines or variations in academic performance outcomes of the students and schools we serve as curriculum standards, testing programs and state accountability metrics evolve; harm to our reputation resulting from poor performance or misconduct by operators or us in any school in our industry and/or in any school in which we operate; legal and regulatory challenges from opponents of virtual public education or for-profit education companies; changes in national and local economic and business conditions and other factors such as natural disasters, pandemics and outbreaks of contagious diseases and other adverse public health developments, such as COVID-19; discrepancies in interpretation of legislation by regulatory agencies that may lead to payment or funding disputes; termination of our contracts, or a reduction in the scope of services with schools; failure to develop the career learning education business; entry of new competitors with superior technologies and lower prices; unsuccessful integration of mergers, acquisitions and joint ventures, failure to further develop, maintain and enhance our technology, products, services and brands; inadequate recruiting, training and retention of effective teachers and employees; infringement of our intellectual property; disruptions to our Internet-based learning and delivery systems, including but not limited to our data storage systems, resulting from cybersecurity attacks; misuse or unauthorized disclosure of student and personal data; and other risks and uncertainties associated with our business described in the Company’s filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Although the Company believes the expectations reflected in such forward-looking statements are based upon reasonable assumptions, it can give no assurance that the expectations will be attained or that any deviation will not be material. All information in this presentation is as of today’s date, and the Company undertakes no obligation to update any forward-looking statement to conform the statement to actual results or changes in the Company’s expectations.

Key Takeaways

1	Stride is not just a short-term COVID-19 beneficiary	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• COVID dramatically increased awareness and broadened acceptance of online and hybrid learning• Students, parents, and administrators have been exposed to learning/teaching online – and recognized the benefits
2	Digital transformation in education is long-term	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• COVID caused a significant shift toward digital / virtual offerings in education• Once industries shift toward digital transformation – rarely do things return to the old normal
3	Total addressable market (TAM) has expanded significantly	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Awareness and acceptance of online and hybrid solutions has expanded Stride's TAM by many multiples<ul style="list-style-type: none">◦ One out of three high school students would choose a hybrid or fully online option even as things return to normal post-COVID
4	Existing assets can serve as additional growth vectors	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Stride's existing content, platforms, and data products can be deployed commercially to a more mainstream audience• Planning to roll out beta products with experienced customers over the next several quarters
5	Gross margin improvements underway	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Believe we can achieve FY25 gross margin targets earlier than anticipated through key initiatives including:<ul style="list-style-type: none">◦ Mix shift from General Education towards Career Learning◦ Increased digitization of materials (e.g., textbooks)◦ Focus on technology to improve retention and outcomes
