The time has come: voxeljet's new web presence is now online. Click your way through the entire world of digital production. You will find many well-designed pages containing current information about our company and its innovative 3D printing technologies. Find out more about the unique opportunities already offered by today's generative manufacturing methods.

And the best part: Participate in a draw for great prizes to celebrate the start of the new voxeljet home page. The prizes are well worth it. The winner will receive voxeljet components valued at EUR 1,000, with prizes valued at EUR 500 and 250 for second and third place, respectively.

Entering is easy: Visit the voxeljet home page, register and with some luck, you may win! All registered participants will take part in the draw. Winners will be announced online on Thursday, 16 December 2010 at voxeljet.com.
