

Hanover Compressor Company Announces Close of $450 Million Credit Facility

November 21, 2005

HOUSTON, Nov 21, 2005 (BUSINESS WIRE) -- Hanover Compressor Company (NYSE:HC), a global market leader in full-service natural gas compression and a leading provider of service, fabrication and equipment for oil and natural gas production, processing and transportation applications, announced today that it has closed a five-year, $450 million senior secured revolving credit facility with a syndicate of lenders and financial institutions. This facility replaces the company's $350 million bank credit facility that was due to mature in December 2006.

"In addition to providing Hanover the ability to pursue attractive growth opportunities, the new revolving line of credit gives Hanover the ability to reduce its financing costs and has extended its credit facility maturity date," said Lee Beckelman, Vice President and Chief Financial Officer.

The new credit facility was closed with JPMorgan Securities Inc., and RBS Securities Corporation, as Co-Lead Arrangers; JPMorgan Chase Bank, N.A., as Administrative Agent; and The Royal Bank of Scotland plc as Syndication Agent.

These forward-looking statements can generally be identified as such because of the context of the statement or because the statement includes words such as "believes," "anticipates," "expects," "estimates," or words of similar import. Similarly, statements that describe Hanover's future plans, objectives or goals or future revenues or other financial measures are also forward-looking statements. Such forward-looking statements are subject to risks and uncertainties that could cause our actual results to differ materially from those anticipated as of the date the statements were made. These risks and uncertainties include, but are not limited to: our inability to renew our short-term leases of equipment with our customers so as to fully recoup our cost of the equipment; a prolonged substantial reduction in oil and natural gas prices, which could cause a decline in the demand for our compression and oil and natural gas production equipment; reduced profit margins or the loss of market share resulting from competition or the introduction of competing technologies by other companies; changes in economic or political conditions in the countries in which we do business, including civil uprisings, riots, terrorism, the taking of property without fair compensation and legislative changes; changes in currency exchange rates; the inherent risks associated with our operations, such as equipment defects, malfunctions and natural disasters; governmental safety, health, environmental and other regulations, which could require us to make significant expenditures including our ability to timely and cost-effectively execute projects in new international operating environments; our inability to implement certain business objectives such as international expansion, integrating acquired businesses, generating sufficient cash, accessing capital markets, refinancing existing or incurring additional indebtedness to fund our business, and executing our exit and sale strategy with respect to assets classified on our balance sheet as assets held for sale; risks associated with any significant failure or malfunction of our enterprise resource planning system and our inability to comply with covenants in our debt agreements and the decreased financial flexibility associated with our substantial debt. A discussion of these and other factors is included in the Company's periodic reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.
