WalkAide patient featured on ABC's Good Morning America

January 29, 2008
On Tuesday, January 29, 2008, WalkAide patient Debbie Gomez-Trost and her St. Louis- based Hanger orthotist Brian Karban were featured on ABC's Good Morning America.

42-year-old mother of triplets and a former microbiologist with the Department of Agriculture, Debbie was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis in June 2005. As a result of the disease, she suffers from paralysis in her arms and legs. She struggles just to walk, and she certainly couldn't keep up with her kids - Cole, Jacob, and Mackenzie - who were only 7-years-old when she was diagnosed.

Three years later, while she still suffers from MS, she is able to walk thanks to the WalkAide. Most importantly, she can now keep up with her triplets.

Click here to watch the Good Morning America segment.
Click here to read an article about Debbie and Brian's Good Morning America appearance.